

... AND INSIDE—The excitement of opening night magnified by a setting that gave new impact not only to the sound of music, but to the visual aspects of the event. This was the view at the moment Leonard Bernstein raised his baton to begin Philharmonic Hall's first concert.

Herald Tribune photo